ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and implementation is disclosed for secure communication between two or more parties. A secure tunnel is established between parties using an encryption algorithm. An authentication process is performed between parties over the secured tunnel. The provisioning of credentials is thereafter performed between parties.

5